Senate Budget Committee Chairman Gregg Comments on Democrats' Plan to Extend Continuing Resolution Through Fiscal Year 2007

“It is disappointing to see that, despite all the campaign promises made by the liberal party that it would govern better than Republicans, Democrats plan to punt their first opportunity to exercise leadership. It reminds me of a relief pitcher who demands to play, but when given the chance, walks the bases loaded and even walks in the winning run. It is hardly an impressive way to begin the new Congress, or to exemplify leadership.”
